

Cradles to Crayons Receives $10,000 Holiday Donation from Winter, Wyman Camp Starfish awarded $5,000 for close second-place finish

WALTHAM, MA, November 3, 2009

For the third straight year, the employees of Winter, Wyman decided to give children in need the gift of comfort by voting to forgo the company's annual holiday party and instead donate those funds to a worthwhile cause.

In a company-wide survey to determine the holiday donation winner, Cradles to Crayons was chosen by one vote over Camp Starfish, a residential summer and year-round program for children with severe emotional, behavioral, learning and social disorders. Because the vote was so close, Winter, Wyman awarded Camp Starfish an unexpected $5,000 holiday donation.

"I am extremely proud of our employees and their commitment to community service," said Bob Boudreau, CEO of Winter, Wyman. "There's no better way to celebrate the holidays as a company than by helping others, and Cradles to Crayons and Camp Starfish are two extremely worthwhile organizations through which we can do some good." About Camp Starfish

Camp Starfish is a residential summer and year-round program for children with severe emotional, behavioral, learning and social disorders. Many of their campers have never before successfully participated in an extracurricular activity, sport or summer program. As the only New England overnight summer camp to offer a one-to-one camper-to-counselor ratio, Starfish provides children with a highly structured, nurturing and supportive environment in which they can safely test their limits and build their self-esteem.
